MASSAGES

Volarik massage

The Volarik massage combines sports and regenerative techniques, providing personalized care. The therapist adjusts the pressure and focus on muscles according to the specific needs of the client. This method promotes relaxation, relieves tension, and regenerates muscles, making it ideal for those seeking a personalized approach to physical well-being.

Aromatherapy Massage

Aromatherapy massage combines massage techniques with the use of essential oils for overall well-being. Clients typically choose from a variety of oils based on their preferences and needs. The therapist then applies these oils using specialized techniques that help relieve stress, relax muscles, and improve mood. This method offers comprehensive care for both physical and emotional well-being, making it ideal for those seeking a personalized and relaxing experience.

Indian Head Massage

Indian head massage, known as champi massage, specifically targets tension in the head, neck, and shoulders. It employs pressure, friction, and gentle tapping to promote blood circulation, relax muscles, and provide overall relaxation. This oil-based massage brings physical ease and mental relaxation, helping to reduce stress and enhance well-being.

Wellness foot massage with reflexology elements

Wellness foot massage with reflexology elements combines classic foot massage with reflexology. During this therapy, pressure points on the feet connected to various parts of the body are targeted, which not only relaxes muscles and improves blood circulation but also enhances overall well-being and relaxation.

Therapeutic massage with vacuum cups

Therapeutic massage with vacuum cups utilizes special glass or plastic cups with suction applied to the skin. This method improves blood circulation, releases muscle tension, and supports tissue regeneration. Cups are placed on areas of tension or pain, and as they are moved, they create a pressure massage effect. This therapy is effective for reducing muscle tension, improving skin elasticity, and promoting overall body regeneration.

Hot stone massage with lava stones

HOT STONES massage utilizes heated lava stones placed on key points of the body. The warmth penetrates the muscles, releasing tension and increasing circulation. The massage therapist also uses the stones for massage, providing a combination of heat and pressure for relaxation and harmony. Ideal for reducing stress and improving overall well-being.

PROCEDURES

Facial treatment

In an intimate skincare setting, we begin by alleviating stress. Clients undergo facial cleansing using cotton pads infused with rose oil and rose water. A harmonious facial and décolletage massage with rose oil, coupled with a hand massage using shea body milk, provides relaxation. A bioactive facial mask revitalizes the skin, followed by the application of rose cream for a radiant complexion. Clients leave not only with beautiful skin but also with a profound sense of relaxation.

Maderotherapy (Anti-cellulite cinnamon treatment with wrap)

Maderotherapy is a therapeutic method utilizing wooden tools for body massage and shaping. Originating from Latin American tradition, this technique combines pressure points, friction, and rolling with wooden tools to enhance circulation, reduce cellulite, and sculpt the body. Maderotherapy has become popular due to its effectiveness in contouring and improving skin texture.

Detoxifying honey massage

Detox honey massage is a therapeutic procedure using high-quality honey to support detoxification and body relaxation. The therapist applies honey to the skin and performs specific movements that promote the release of toxins from the body. This massage aims to stimulate circulation, support the lymphatic system, and improve skin condition. Honey massage is popular for its detoxifying properties and its ability to provide clients with a deeply relaxing experience.
