MASSAGES

Volarik massage

The Volarik massage combines sports and regenerative techniques, providing personalized care. The therapist adjusts the pressure and focus on muscles according to the specific needs of the client. This method promotes relaxation, relieves tension, and regenerates muscles, making it ideal for those seeking a personalized approach to physical well-being.

Aromatherapy Massage

Aromatherapy massage combines massage techniques with the use of essential oils for overall well-being. Clients typically choose from a variety of oils based on their preferences and needs. The therapist then applies these oils using specialized techniques that help relieve stress, relax muscles, and improve mood. This method offers comprehensive care for both physical and emotional well-being, making it ideal for those seeking a personalized and relaxing experience.

Relaxing Head and Face Massage

Treat yourself to a perfect relaxation experience that begins with gentle cleansing using a rose and mimosa hydrophil oil, followed by refreshing hydration with rose water. A soothing massage of the face and décolleté with rose oil will calm both your skin and mind. While seated, you will then enjoy a pleasant neck and head massage with classic oil, helping to release tension and bring a sense of lightness. This entire ritual is ideal for moments when you want to slow down and be pampered.

Wellness foot massage with reflexology elements

Wellness foot massage with reflexology elements combines classic foot massage with reflexology. During this therapy, pressure points on the feet connected to various parts of the body are targeted, which not only relaxes muscles and improves blood circulation but also enhances overall well-being and relaxation.

30 min 850,-

Therapeutic massage with vacuum cups

Therapeutic massage with vacuum cups utilizes special glass or plastic cups with suction applied to the skin. This method improves blood circulation, releases muscle tension, and supports tissue regeneration. Cups are placed on areas of tension or pain, and as they are moved, they create a pressure massage effect. This therapy is effective for reducing muscle tension, improving skin elasticity, and promoting overall body regeneration.

30 min 850,-

Chocolate Massage

Let yourself be carried away by the scent of chocolate and enjoy a unique relaxation with a chocolate massage. Warm shea butter with chocolate will gently release tension in your back and legs, bringing a feeling of complete calm. The experience is finished with a chocolate wrap that deeply nourishes and softens your skin. Perfect for moments when you want to indulge in a sweet treat of pampering.

PROCEDURES

Maderotherapy (Anti-cellulite cinnamon treatment with wrap)

Maderotherapy is a therapeutic method utilizing wooden tools for body massage and shaping. Originating from Latin American tradition, this technique combines pressure points, friction, and rolling with wooden tools to enhance circulation, reduce cellulite, and sculpt the body. Maderotherapy has become popular due to its effectiveness in contouring and improving skin texture.

Detoxifying honey massage

Detox honey massage is a therapeutic procedure using high-quality honey to support detoxification and body relaxation. The therapist applies honey to the skin and performs specific movements that promote the release of toxins from the body. This massage aims to stimulate circulation, support the lymphatic system, and improve skin condition. Honey massage is popular for its detoxifying properties and its ability to provide clients with a deeply relaxing experience.
